Secret Of Happy Married Life Is 1934
Told By Couple

(Consolidated News Service)

Freeport, Ill., Aug. 9.—Commonsense and co-operation are the only requirements of a happy married life. No greater authorities than Mr. and Mrs. James Weaver, Polo, gave this recipe and the throng of persons who attended the third annual picnic of the True Vow Keepers club in Taylor park today conceded that the Weavers should know. They have been married almost sixty-six years and were awarded the grand prize for being the oldest married couple at the picnic.

"Years ago when a young couple repeated their marital vows at the altar steps, a sort of a business partnership was immediately created," Mrs. Weaver declared in an interview this afternoon. "Profits and losses were equally shared. No matter how difficult the trials and tribulations, the home had to go on. Earnings accumulated went to the purchase of a farm or a home and to the rearing and education of children.

"Now, some couples are hastily married with absolutely no thought of the tremendous duties which they will face. In a majority of instances neither one has the patience to await a solution of the problems. They are unwilling to make sacrifices and are only concerned about having a good time. When trouble arises, they are ready to quit. Only death dissolves a truly riage state," Mrs. Weave

Tracy Rohrer was born at Hagerstown, Maryland, Dec. 30, 1830, was married to Ephriam Samsel of Hagerstown, Maryland, Dec. 23, 1847. To this union were born 15 children, 7 boys and 8 girls of whom 11 are living. Mr. and Mrs. Samsel moved to Polo, Ill. in 1853, from there they moved to Emporia, Kas., in 1869, from there they went to Montgomery City, MO., 14 years ago this fall. In May, the 24th of this year they came to Hamilton to spend the summer with their daughter. Mrs. Samsel was not sick but a few days and died of heart disease. She joined the United Brethren church in Maryland, later, joined the Presbyterian church in Missouri 12 years ago. She was a kind, loving mother, a true christian. The children live at the following palces: Three boys, Theodore, Oscar and Charlies at Fonda Iowa, Edward Samsel and Mrs. James Weaver at Polo, Ill., Mrs. Hiram Kindkade at Hamilton, Ill., Mrs. John Young at Walhalla, N. Individual biographical text for Henry(Heinrich) Barnhart #5731

Per Chris Barnhart: Henry attended Jacob's Lutheran Church for a time before he began attending Salem Reformed Church. A list dated 30 March 1807 from Jacob's Church register subscribing pledges for money or labor "to complete the church cover(ceiling)"(this was translated from the German text) shows Henrich Bernhard pledging 1 Tag(day) of work on this project. Next to his name are his brother's in-law George Beck and George Ziegler. This is probably the George Ziegler whose farm Henrich is buried on. One disconnect: George Zeigler and wife Barbara may have attended Zion Reformed Church, Hagerstown, MD., as they had two children baptised there. A copy of the Jacob's church register, prepared by Pastor Frederick Weiser, resides at the Adams County Historical Society, Gettysburg, PA. The list appears as such: Obliges is alles verstohl worden 1807 30 Mertz George Beck-1 Tag George Zeigler-1 Tag Henrich Bernhard-1 Tag. Henry apparently had two wives. I received this information from David Muritz of Hagerstown, MD. In addition, Henry and his second wife, Sarah, appear regularly in the lists of communicants for Salem Reformed Church near Zullinger, PA. They attended from 1820 to 1830. Henrich's sons Henry W. and his wife Ann Elizabeth, and his dtr. attended regularly until 1845 until moving to State Line, PA. His son George attended early on until he began attending Jacobs Church near Leitersburg.

The Account was signed and dated 16 Dec. 1870. In Volume III of Washington County, Maryland Cemtery Records, it has John Rohrer b. 2 Jul 1797 d. 6 Nov. 1869, Susan Rohrer w/o John Rohrer age 48 y d. 21 Apr. 1846. Next to them is Mary Magdalene Rohrer d/o John and Susannah Rohrer b. 21 Sep 1836 d. 10 Feb. 1849. After Susan died, John married Rosanna Finebruck about 21 Nov. 1849.
